Sharp Attacks By Reds

Roving Airmen of U. S. Forces Deal Destruction on Vehicles of foe

By John Randolph

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 28—(P)—Communist forces launched a series of sharp attacks last night at widely scattered points across 50 miles of the Korean battle front.

Behind the lines, they rolled a mass of men and supplies toward the front along all the major north-south roads across the waist of the Korean peninsula.

They took advantage of a moonless night. But Allied planes converged on the main arteries and the U. S. Fifth Air Force said its pilots destroyed 508 Communist vehicles and damaged 613, a record. The old mark was 964, set Wednesday.

The roving airmen attacked more than 1,700 trucks from dusk Thursday to dawn Friday, the Fifth Air Force said.

The tempo of Communist troop and transport activity sharpened as efforts to revive the stalled truce talks reached a virtual standstill.

The Communist forces threw their sharpest attacks in the Yonchon and Chorwon sectors near western Korea's iron triangle, and in the east-central area at Heartbreak ridge and the Punch-bowl heights.

The Reds lobbed artillery and mortar shells throughout Thursday night at Allied infantrymen dug in just below the crest of Heartbreak, a hill mass north of Yangu.

Fight Rages at Hill
Other Red troops attack American and South Korean troops holding a hill west of the ridge. They had captured it only Tuesday. The fight raged on into the morning.

It appeared that the Reds were trying to cut off advanced Allied units both in the east and west.

Marine Corsair pilots and air force B-26 night fliers teamed in the attacks on Red transport behind the lines.

Capt. Marvin F. Teel, Warrensburg, Mo., said his flight of B-26 Invaders sank an 18-vehicle convoy near Tokchon, in the center of the peninsula near Parallel 40.

"It was just what we were looking for," he said. "We made the best of it with our fire and frag bombs. Seven explosions shook the convoy, leap-frogging from truck to truck."

"There were intermittent blasts 12 minutes later."

Thirty-five American Sabre jets swept MIG ally in northwest Korea for 30 minutes Friday morning but failed to raise Communist jets.

Support to Seaway Plan
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—President Truman said today he would support a proposal for Canada to build the St. Lawrence seaway if the project can be started soon as a joint U. S.-Canadian development.

The president's position was made known in a joint statement after a conference at which Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent presented Canada's proposal.

The statement said Mr. Truman strongly preferred joint action and expressed hope that congress would soon authorize joint construction of the seaway-power project along the lines of the U. S.-Canadian agreement of 1941.

However, the statement added, Mr. Truman will "support Canadian action as second best if an early commencement of the joint development does not prove possible."

Disalle Would Like to Return to Toledo
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28—(P)—Michael V. Disalle, director of the Office of Price Stabilization and former mayor of Toledo, said here yesterday that he had told the president recently he would like to return to Toledo when the price situation is running smoothly.

"I went to Washington on a temporary basis," he said. "In fact, I didn't even move my family there."

"It won't be soon," Disalle said, replying to question of when things might be running smoothly enough to allow him to leave.

Yanks Clinch Tie For Pennant; Reynolds Hurls 8-0 No-Hitter
NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(P)—Allie Reynolds pitched his second no-hitter of the season today as the New York Yankees clinched a tie for the American league pennant by blanking the Boston Red Sox 8 to 0, in the first half of a doubleheader.

Denial by Boyle

William M. Boyle, Jr. (above) National Democratic chairman denied Sept. 27 before a Senate investigations subcommittee in Washington, that he used political influence to get RFC loans for the American Lithofold Corp., but he admitted he made an appointment for the printing firm president with the RFC chairman. He said he saw nothing improper in that. (AP Wirephoto)

Reporter Conceals Sources

Post-Dispatch Writer, At Boyle Inquiry, Cannot Give Solons Names 'At This Time'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—Theodore Link, a reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, refused today to divulge to Senate investigators the sources of his published charges that Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., received $8,000 in connection with a government loan.

Link, testifying under oath before the Senate investigations subcommittee, said "We obtained our information from a very reliable source" but that he could not name the source "at this time."

"The matter is far from dead with us," the reporter said.

Link challenged part of Boyle's sworn testimony yesterday.

Boyle told the committee that he personally had informed Link that American Lithofold Corp., a St. Louis printing firm which got the loans, paid him only $1,250, and that the money was a legal retainer fee which had nothing to do with the loan.

Link said Boyle "was vague" and "told me he didn't remember what he got," at an interview before Link wrote his articles.

"Boyle said he told you he got only $1,250," Chairman Hoye (D-NC) informed Link.

"If he had, I would have put it in the paper," the reporter answered. "He didn't tell me that."

Link appeared voluntarily as the scheduled windup witness in the inquiry after Boyle had denied he ever used influence or received fees to help the printing firm obtain $565,000 worth of loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

It was Link's stories about Boyle's alleged connections with the loan that set off the inquiry.

Senator Hoye (D-NC), the committee chairman, told the group that testimony so far has not shown Boyle got $8,000, and that the Post-Dispatch has "produced absolutely no evidence" of it, either.

The committee had set out to explore whether Boyle did get $8,000 and whether any fees he received were paid him for helping Lithofold to obtain $565,000 worth of new repay loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Boyle Denies Influence
Boyle denied he ever tried to influence the RFC or any other government agency, and the senators heard no testimony that he had. He received testimony that the first of the Lithofold loans was approved three days after Boyle had set up an interview for firm negotiators with Harley Hise, then RFC chairman, on Feb. 28, 1949.

Boyle said he did not discuss the loan with Hise. He added he often made appointments with government officials.

Bill to Repeal 'Censor' Order
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) today introduced in the Senate a bill to "repeal" President Truman's executive order tightening the handling of security information by government agencies.

Bricker described the President's action, taken last Tuesday, as a "censorship order." Many newspaper editors have protested the order.

Th Ohio senator was not available immediately to explain his measure. His office said, however, that congressional action to repeal a presidential order has been taken many times in the past.

Bricker's bill was introduced only a day after Mr. Truman made the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) withdraw a memo directing its staff to withhold from the public any information which might embarrass the agency.

Bradley Arrives In Tokyo

To Survey The Korean Situation With Gen. Ridgway On Truce Talks

By Don Huth

TOKYO, Sept. 28—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley arrived tonight, possibly to map strategy if the Korean truce talks collapse completely and full-scale fighting erupts. Bradley's plane arrived at nearby Haneda airport at 9:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m., CST). The chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff was accompanied by Charles Bohlen, State department expert on Russia.

The Defense department in Washington said Bradley would "survey all aspects of the situation" with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander.

Ridgway yesterday suggested a switch in the truce talk site in an effort to revive the stalled armistice talks.

Peiping radio treated Ridgway's proposal with rough language. In a broadcast tonight as Bradley's plane was winging the last few miles to Tokyo, it accused Ridgway of "carrying out orders from Washington to use the change-of-conference site question to block the resumption" of truce talks.

No Answer Given
The Chinese and North Koreans have not answered Ridgway's suggestion Thursday for getting the bogged down parley going.

Peiping radio treated the conference site switch from Kaesong, behind the Red lines, to the Songhyon area in no-man's-land. The village is six miles southeast of Kaesong.

Observers said this could be Ridgway's last compromise proposal.

The Reds broke off armistice talks August 23. They accused the United Nations of violating the neutrality of Kaesong. The charge was denied.

Underlining the pessimism were UN pilot reports of masses of enemy trucks moving toward the battle front and a flareup of Red infantry attacks all along the battle line.

Ridgway's headquarters in an unofficial release echoed the futility of the last six weeks of bickering and note exchanges.

The Reds, the release accused, sought resumption of the armistice parley on their own terms, or a complete breakdown "out of sheer frustration."

Ridgway wants the full delegations to "meet as early as possible at a place approximately midway between the battle lines in the vicinity of Songhyon."

He proposed that the five-man delegations would first discuss maintaining the neutrality of the new location. Then they would return to debating the establishment of a demilitarized zone across Korea—the agenda item under discussion when the talks were abruptly halted by the Reds 37 days ago.

But there was little hope the Communists would accept the latest UN command suggestion.

Communist newsmen told Allied correspondents Thursday at Panmunjon, where an official copy of the message was delivered to a Red liaison team, that the Reds still want Kaesong as the meeting place.

These Red newsmen often reflect the official thinking of the Communist high command headed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai.

Red China's official Peiping radio gave a dispatch from North Korea:

"If Ridgway is allowed to have his way, the resumption of the Korean peace talks will be sidetracked into discussions of conditions such as the question of a new site and as many other impossible demands as Ridgway wishes to bring out to block the resumption of the armistice talks."

In two and one-half months of trying to reach an armistice, the talks have wallowed in a morass of words. They have been suspended more days than they have been in session since they began July 10.

And when they were broken off August 23 by the Communists, the delegations were as far apart as ever in trying to reach agreement on the second item of the five-point agenda—a buffer zone.

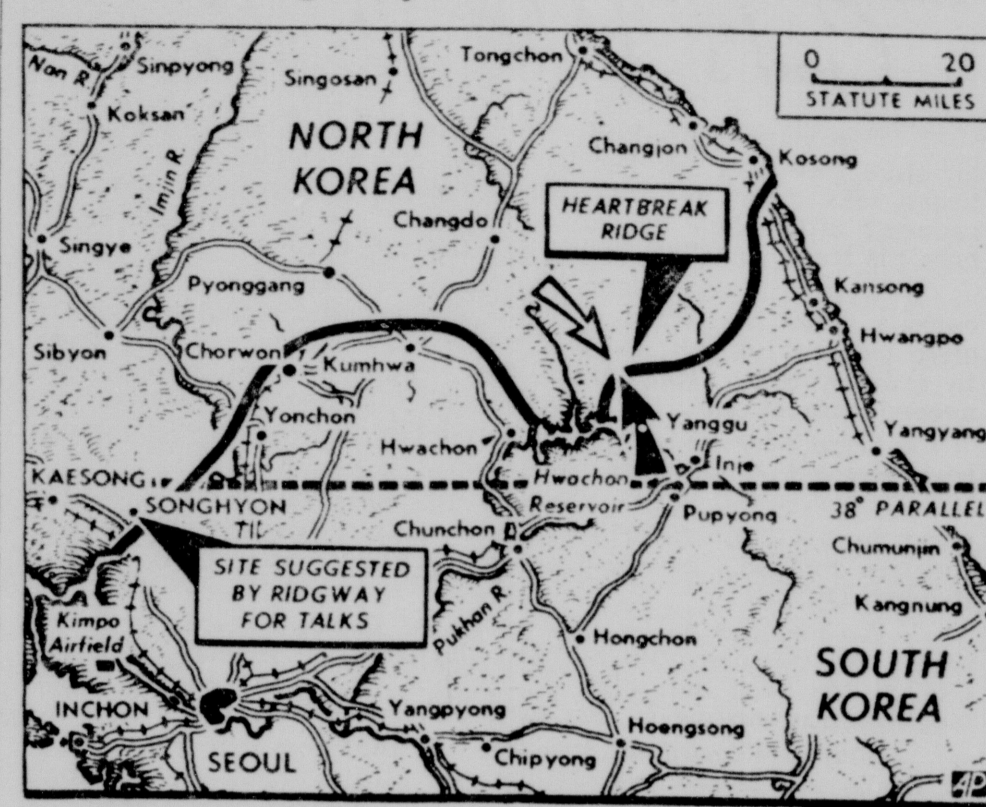

A subcommittee was trying to untangle the snarled negotiations over this issue when the Reds walked out.

Missourian Chaplain For First Cavalry
WITH U. S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea, Sept. 28—(P)—Lt. Col. Leslie A. Thompson, Springfield, Mo., has been appointed chaplain for the First Cavalry division.

A veteran of 11 years in the army, the 44-year-old chaplain succeeds Maj. Richard C. Lipsey who has returned to the United States on rotation.

Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar A. Thompson, 733 S. Campbell ave., Springfield.

Where Ridgway Wants Peace Talks

No man's land near Songhyon (pointer) has been proposed by General Matthew Ridgway as the site for renewal of truce talks with North Koreans and Chinese. It is located six miles southeast of Kaesong, where U. N. and Communist officers met until talks were broken off August 23. On the fighting front Communists and Allied infantry were battling for the 16th day for the strategic peaks of "Heartbreak Ridge" (arrows). (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Reach About Half Way to Goal in Stadium Campaign

About half of the goal in the Jennie Jaynes Foundation was reached in the Stadium Day Drive Thursday. Money still is coming in to the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Joe Benson, general chairman of the drive was pleased with the results of Smith-Cotton students who turned in $2,124.85. They worked the residential section inspired by the slogan "A dollar from all will start the ball."

Several workers have said it was the easiest drive in which they have ever worked—usually people were expecting them and had the money ready.

Many former Sedalians have helped by giving something. One man who is a former Sedalian and was one of the original trustees of the Jennie Jaynes Foundation has written that he will send a check for $1,000. He is A. P. Green, now of Mexico, Mo.

From the ones who can afford big sums to those who give what they can comes the story of a man who went to the employer with a dollar. "This is my last dollar," he said. "But I want to give it for the stadium." Such spirit has prevailed among most of the citizens. They are anxious but the goal not only be reached but that even more money than hoped for will be needed to start a foundation for other needed things in Sedalia that can be added to at anytime.

Carrier Boy Given $100 Check
One of the proudest boys in Sedalia was Ellis Closser, a Democrat carrier boy, who was asking people along his route for contributions for the recreational center in an effort to help swell the fund from Smith-Cotton high school where he is a student. When one of the men gave him a check for $100 he was so excited he immediately called his principal.

May Ask the UN Intervene

London Cabinet in Meeting on Iran Dispute Over Oil
LONDON, Sept. 28—(P)—Britain may ask the United Nations Security Council to intervene in the tense Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, informed sources said today.

The cabinet met on the oil crisis for the third time this week, as this country waited developments in the Middle East country which has ordered British oil men at Abadan expelled by next Thursday.

A likely course for London may be, the informants said, to ask the Security Council to order Iranian obedience to an international court of justice recommendation. The court urged both sides to seek a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

A senior British cabinet minister told a reporter the government would issue a full statement tonight on its course of action and its reasons for what decisions were made.

The foreign office spokesman said reports from the British mission in Tehran thus far have brought no confirmation of public statements.

Churchill Calls For End to Socialism in Great Britain

By Edward Curtis
LONDON, Sept. 28—(P)—Winston Churchill, calling upon Britain to put an end to socialism, pledged his Conservatives today to return the nationalized iron and steel industry to private ownership and to remove other restrictions on industry.

As leader of the party, the 76-year-old wartime prime minister issued a 2,500-word Conservative manifesto for the Oct. 25 general election. It declared "nationalization has proved itself a failure which has resulted in heavy losses to the taxpayer or the consumer or both."

Britain, it said, must end "class warfare," stop "frantic extravagances" and rebuild her life at home and her prestige abroad.

"There must be no illusions about our difficulties and dangers," it said, adding that Oct. 25 "may well be the turning point in the fortunes and even the life of Britain."

The Conservatives were the first to issue their election manifesto for the monumental battle at the polls shaping up for Oct. 25, in which the Tories seek the possibility of a victory ending the six years of Labor party reign.

The Labor party, which during that six years nationalized most of Britain's major industries, is expected to announce its manifesto Sunday or Monday. The Labor party annual conference opens Monday in Scarborough.

The manifesto contended it was the extravagance of the Labor government which caused Britain's devaluation of the pound from $4.02 to $2.80 in September, 1949.

Churchill laid down these main points his party would seek to carry out if returned to power:

Increase national output; complete the £4,700,000,000 ($13,160,000,000) three-year rearmament program started by the labor government; impose an excess profits tax during the defense emergency; stop all further nationalization of industry; return to the iron and steel industry nationalized early this year to its former owners; decentralize the nationalized rail and road transport and coal industries and strengthen the monopolies commission to reduce "to the minimum possible all restrictive practices on both sides of industry," including the nationalized industries.

Revolt in Argentina is Short Lived

Former Generals Stage it Against President Peron

By Fred L. Strozger
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 28—(P)—The official state radio announced today a revolt was staged by two former army generals against the government of Juan D. Peron and was swiftly put down.

The radio, a short time after announcing civil war had broken out in Argentina, declared the government quelled the rising headed by former Gen. Arturo Rawson and former Gen. Benjamin Henandez Rawson was a leader of a 1943 rebellion which placed him in the presidency just two days.

There was no information available from other sources. The capital has been closed down tightly, with business establishments shuttered.

There were many rumors of troop movements, but these, too, could not be confirmed.

No fighting was observed in the streets of Buenos Aires except for sporadic fist fights. But a large crowd was pouring into the Plaza de Mayo in front of Peron's offices, shouting "La vida por Peron" (Our lives for Peron).

(In Washington observers close to Argentine affairs said the revolution may have been a bona fide one, but could have been a staged affair to whip up sentiment for Peron in the forthcoming November 11 elections in which he is a candidate to succeed himself.

However there have been many reports of army dissatisfaction with the regime.)

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28—(P)—The Argentine General Labor Confederation announced today some military men launched a revolt against the government of President Juan D. Peron. It called a general strike throughout the nation.

The Labor Confederation (CGT) is the backbone of Peron's government.

The broadcast warned that any military men joining in the rising would be executed. A state of siege—a modified form of martial law—was proclaimed, the broadcast said.

Within minutes after the broadcast, a crowd began to assemble in front of the huge Plaza Mayo, balcony from which Peron frequently has spoken to his supporters in the more than five years of his reign. Workers were urged to assemble in the square, in front of the president's Casa Rosada offices.

The broadcast came after handbills with revolutionary messages were dropped over the business district of the capital by low flying planes.

Only yesterday President Peron announced that the army would police the forthcoming national elections in which he has been named a candidate to succeed himself.

There have been rumors for some time that an army coup was in the making against Peron, who himself became the strong man of Argentina on the coattails of a coup.

In August of this year the executive council of the government-controlled Confederation of Labor urged Peron to stand as presidential candidate, with his wife, Eva Duarte Peron, as vice-presidential candidate.

There apparently was opposition in the army to Mr. Peron. A series of rumblings arose against what was called Eva's "petticoat dictatorship." She later turned down the invitation to run for vice-president, in a fearful withdrawal.

Ample Reason to Be Off the Jury
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28—(P)—Edgar C. Hartmann was excused from jury service in a robbery trial yesterday on complaint of the defense counsel.

Here's why: Hartmann was asked if he had reason to be prejudiced against holdup men. The prospective juror said he didn't "feel strongly prejudiced," but there were some facts he thought he would bring to light.

First, Hartmann admitted, "I have been a victim of a holdup man myself." Second, "My father was shot by a holdup man."

And third, "My grandfather was shot and killed by a holdup man."

That did it.

Tribute Paid Dead By Gen. Van Fleet
FUSAN, Korea, Sept. 28—(P)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today paid tribute to those who died "that Korea might live and serve and that the free nations of the earth might stand together."

The Allied field commander in Korea spoke at memorial services for war dead.

First Heavy Frost Hits Missouri

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28—(P)—The first heavy frost of the season hit Missouri during the night.

The weather bureau here reported that it covered most of the northern third of the state in varying degrees. There were some sub-freezing spots, among them Kirksville with a cold 29. St. Joseph had 35, Columbia 37 and St. Louis 42.

More frost is in store for tonight, the forecast calling for scattered deposits in central and northeastern parts of the state. These sections are expected to have temperatures ranging from 32 to 35 degrees. Elsewhere the mercury is expected to be from 35 to 40.

As for Saturday, Missourians can look for fair weather with readings of 68 to 72 in the north and 72 to 75 in the south.

Proposed Tax Pari-Mutuel Bets Rejected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—The senate today rejected a proposed two per cent tax on pari-mutuel race track bets and a 20 per cent withholding tax on winnings.

Senator Holland (D-Fla.) declared the proposal would destroy pari-mutuel wagering and wipe out an important source of revenue for many states, including his own state of Florida where racing is a big business.

The proposal was sponsored by Senator Langer (R-ND). It was defeated on a standing vote with only eight or nine senators supporting it.

The proposal was the first to be acted on as the senate again met two hours early in an uncertain effort to finish up work tonight on the $5,500,000,000 tax increase bill.

The senate yesterday approved a 10 per cent levy on bets placed with professional gamblers. This excused pari-mutuels because they are taxed by the states.

Langer said his amendment would have added $100,000,000 in new tax revenues to the bill.

Senator George (D-Ga.) said today it is "crazy" to think the senate will vote a bigger hike on personal income taxes after reflecting all other major boosts in its tax increase bill.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), leading a group of administration senators trying to get a greater tax boost, agreed with the veteran finance committee chairman.

Push For Personal Hike
But the Minnesota said he would push anyway for a personal income tax hike plan that would raise more than the finance committee's version and put a heavier burden in the middle and higher income levels.

The senate late yesterday turned down 49 to 29 an attempt by members of the defunct crime investigating committee to knock out of the bill a new gambling tax estimated to bring in $407,000,000 a year.

The senate meets (9 a. m. EST) two hours ahead of its usual time with some possibility it may complete action of the $5,500,000,000 tax revenue-boosting measure tonight. This is the ninth day of debate on the bill.

Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona succeeded late yesterday in obtaining an agreement to limit debate on each amendment. He promised a night session tonight. George said he would be satisfied with passage tomorrow.

Toll Charges at Bridge To Be Removed
WASHINGTON, Mo., Sept. 28—(P)—Toll charges on the bridge over the Missouri river bridge here will be removed tomorrow.

The bridge, built in 1936 at a cost of $638,000, has been completely paid for, city officials said today.

Tolls formerly were 45 cents one way and 75 cents round trip.

The Weather
Central Missouri: Cool tonight with some scattered frost. Low tonight in upper 30s. Partly cloudy and warmer tomorrow with high near 70.

Lake of the Ozarks: 1 below full, fall 1.

$22,462,000 For It Is Embodied in Program Totalling $5,864,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) President Truman today signed legislation authorizing a $5,864,000,000 global U. S. military construction program.

Speed For Appropriation
Congress has yet to appropriate the funds. But the house military appropriations subcommittee is meeting in day-long sessions to speed necessary legislation to the floor.

The major portion of the proposed construction, nearly $3,500,000,000 is for strengthening the air force's ground installations in the United States, in the territories and overseas.

This is the largest construction program ever authorized in one lump bill by congress—and there will be more to come when congress reconvenes in January.

Projects include:

Missouri—Sedalia A. F. Base, $22,462,000; Grandview airport, $19,019,000; Ft. Leonard Wood, $1,976,400. St. Louis records depot, $22,700,000.

Preliminary Surveys
Construction of the Sedalia Air Force base, south of Knob Noster, is included in the proposed military construction bill signed today by President Harry S. Truman.

Of the overall construction bill which calls for the expenditure of $5,864,000,000, the Air Force has asked $22,462,000 for the local base.

Signing of this bill clears the way for the Congressional Appropriations committees of the House and Senate to continue with hearings on the monies for the bill. This bill, it was understood, is a supplementary appropriation bill.

Hearings on the appropriation were started two weeks ago. It was indicated the appropriations will be submitted within a month from the time the hearings were started.

Not until the appropriations have been approved by the House and Senate to continue with hearings on the monies for the bill. This bill, it was understood, is a supplementary appropriation bill.

Corn Damaged By Heavy Frost
Frost and freezing cold damaged corn and late garden vegetables in some midwestern areas today.

The bulk of the corn crop has progressed to the point where it is safe from harm. But some corn delayed by late planting and a cool, wet summer was caught in the freeze.

The frost and freezing temperatures that enveloped Nebraska hit immature corn.

Iowa's first general frost of the season was accompanied by temperatures that ranged down to 27 at Spencer, Sioux City and Iowa Falls. More than 60 per cent of Iowa's corn is beyond the stage where it can be damaged. Experts said the extent of the damage to the balance of the crop can not be determined for several days.

Thermometers registered the lowest readings of the season in Wisconsin. Frost covered most of the state. The weather bureau said it probably will get some crop damage reports from the northwestern section of the state.

Northern Illinois had scattered frost and some freezing temperatures.

The early fall chill spread over the northern two-thirds of the U. S.

Killed in Game of 'Russian Roulette'
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28—(P)—A 25-year-old man was killed yesterday in a game of "Russian roulette" while demonstrating to friends "how I scare my wife at home," police at suburban Wellston reported.

They identified the victim as William Burke. He died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Marlowe.

Wellston officers Vernon Marlowe and Charles O'Toole said Marlowe told them Burke was visiting when he pulled out a .32 caliber revolver, extracted the bullets and then put a single round back into the cylinder.

"He spun the cylinder, aimed the gun at his right ear, pulled the trigger once and the gun fired," the officers quoted Marlowe.

(Rev. 21:1). The lesson sermon also contains the following from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Revelator had not yet passed the transitional stage in human experience called death, but he already saw a new heaven and a new earth. . . . Accompanying this scientific consciousness was another revelation, even the declaration from heaven, supreme harmony, that God, the divine Principle of harmony, is ever with men, and they are His people. Thus man was no longer regarded as a miserable sinner, but as the blessed child of God." (p. 572, 573).

God's Will Is Best

The story is told of an old hermit who wanted to have an olive tree near his hut. He planted a sapling, and soon he began asking God for rain. His prayers were answered, God responded also when the hermit prayed for warm sunshine to help his tree grow. But in the end the tree died.

With this experience in mind, the hermit was naturally curious when he visited a fellow solitary and found a thriving olive tree by his cell. He told his friend how he, too, had tried to grow a tree. He related how, when he thought the tree needed rain or sun, he prayed to God and was answered.

"God," he said, "granted what I thought was good for my tree, and yet it withered away."

His brother monk, turning his gaze toward the goodly plant in his tiny garden, replied: "And I, friend, simply left the tree in God's hands, because He knew better than I what it needed."

No one has to be told which of the two monks was the wiser and saintlier: the hermit who tried, as it were, to place God at his beck and call, or the one who was content to let God work according to His own plans and desires.

The real lesson of this story is that complete conformity to God's will is not only the proper attitude, but the one that alone leads to ultimate happiness and success. With God all things work unto good.

To surrender one's own will and submit humbly and completely to the will of God is a supreme act of love toward the Creator. It is the way to perfection. Even in this life, however hard one's lot may seem, it is the truest way to inner happiness and peace—the two richest gifts human being can enjoy.

It is by no means easy to bring oneself to conform wholly to God's will in all things. It requires prayer and meditation, sacrifice and self-renunciation. But whoever succeeds in attaining this high state reaps a golden reward.

"Those who are firmly established in conformity to the will of God," a great Christian leader once wrote, "are constantly guided by His divine wisdom. The Lord holds them in the hollow of His hand to protect them from folly. He illuminates them with His divine light. They rejoice in perfect peace and calmness during their whole life. They make great progress in virtue and are constantly engaged in holy works."

Sunday School Lesson

World-Wide Christianity
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Protestant churches throughout the world will be shortly celebrating World Communion Sunday, the day in which as they gather at the Lord's Table in their respective places of worship that solemn service will be marked by a consciousness of their fellowship with all Christians.

The word in the New Testament translated "communion" is the same word that in other passages is translated "fellowship." It would have been better if the idea of fellowship had never been absent from the idea of communion; and if it would have been better if the idea of Christian fellowship had never been limited to those who partook of communion in a particular place, and with those only of their own group.

It seemed a travesty upon the great conception of Christian fellowship that the denominations and the sects should be known as "communions." In their limitations and narrowness they denied the magnitude and magnificence of Christian fellowship.

I suppose that, actually, devout worshippers, however, limited though their communion might be, had some conception of the larger church militant and the church triumphant, surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses. But the limitations of the communion too often symbolized a narrowness of vision, an in-grown sectarian sense, and a lack of willingness to unite with those of other "communions" in Christian activities.

So it is a good thing that barriers are breaking down, that larger organizations are meaning larger activities and cooperation for the Christian work and service that is inherent in the Christian way. It is good that world tasks and world problems are being faced for what they are.

But what of the spirit back of union and world organization? Is the ecumenicity—the big word that means universal—ecumenicity of spirit as well as of organization?

Sectarianism with all its faults has embraced elements of intense earnestness and conviction. If convictions broaden and deepen, while no earnestness and devotion are lessened, the gain will be real. But the power of Christianity depends upon the quality of personal faith and the strength of personal convictions. For such convictions freedom is as essential as organization and authority.

The broadening process in world Christianity will mean far less than it professes to mean, unless into the broader organization, life and activity of the ecumenical church there is carried over the freedom of faith and inquiry and the qualities of loyalty and devotion that have made denominations strong, and that have touched even the sects with an element of glory.

Church Wedding In Houstonia

Miss Anita Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Patterson of Sweet Springs, became the bride of Mr. Taylor Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Carter at 10 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 2, at the Houstonia Methodist church. The Rev. W. B. Hollingsworth read the double ring service before an altar setting of white mums and pink and white chrysanthemums. Palms and white candelabra were at each side as were baskets of mixed cut flowers.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth and candles were lighted by Frank Russell Charles, cousin of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white chintilly lace over satin. The full skirt was ballerina length and the waist length jacket was closely fitted and buttoned to the neckline which was finished with a small collar. The three-quarter length sleeves tapered to a small flared cuff. The bridal head-dress was a small bonnet made of white satin, a white ostrich curl trimmed the side front and her veil of imported illusion net silk was shoulder length.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and tuberoses.

Miss Alice Carter, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a navy blue sliver dress, ballerina length, with small white lace hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride's brother, Mr. Glen Patterson, served as best man. Mrs. Patterson, mother of the bride wore a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy blue. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The table was covered with a lace tablecloth. At one end was a three-tiered wedding cake with two branch candelabra holding lighted yellow tapers on either side. Little Japanese fans opened for a background for the candle. A punch bowl was at the other end of the table.

Mrs. Cyrus Charles, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and assisting in serving were Gailie, Wilma Jean and Mary Catherine Charles.

The reception was attended by many out-of-town guests in addition to those in Sweet Springs.

The bride wore for traveling on their wedding trip a brown dress with brown suede accessories.

The couple will reside on a farm east of Sweet Springs where the bridegroom is engaged in farming with his father.

The bride has been employed the last few months with the International Shoe company.

In the St. Louis area, department store sales were up two per cent over the same week in 1950 and elsewhere the gains ranged from 11 per cent at Louisville to an average gain of 40 per cent in seven small towns.

Memphis had a 17 per cent gain and Little Rock 14 per cent. For the four-week period ending September 22, district sales were six per cent less than for a like period in 1950. Cumulative 1951 sales in the district so far are about equal to those in 1950 for the same period.

Ivan Might Like to Spruce Up Somewhat

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK —(P)—The news from Russia sounds more and more capitalistic. What's going on behind the Iron Curtain these days?

First the Soviet doll industry is warned it has got to produce a greater variety of dolls, as little girls don't like all dolls to look alike.

And now the Soviet Ministry of Light Industry has announced a national necktie design contest. Ivan is apparently also tired of wearing the same old drab cravat, and wants to spruce up a bit.

The ministry is giving 14 prizes to the winners, and doesn't think rather jar you? In the old days, comrad, a man wouldn't expect a prize for designing the better necktie. He would do it for the glory of the masses. Just what the prizes will be, the ministry doesn't say. But if they should turn out to be the collected speeches of Joseph Stalin, the winners will still be expected to muster expressions of delight.

The contest has one interesting rule: Each necktie must be so designed that it can be manufactured in five different colors. Presumably, these are the five primary Russian colors—carmine, crimson, scarlet, maroon, and red.

The real problem for a Russian artist, however, won't be one of color. It will be how to design a prize-winning necktie without putting a portrait of Stalin on it. And I predict right now that no Russian artist will get around that problem.

As a matter of fact, it should be fairly easy right now to predict the top winning design. It will have a picture of the Kremlin standing out against a field of red. Over the Kremlin a great full moon will be rising. The moon will have a moustache, and

Federal Jury to Investigate Riot

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 —(P)—Attorney General McGrath said yesterday he is ordering a federal grand jury investigation of the July race disorders in Cicero, Ill., which developed when a Negro family tried to move into a white neighborhood.

Rioting involving an estimated 3,000 persons broke out and was brought under control only after the National Guard was called out. The riots wrecked the apartment building involved so badly it is still unoccupied, McGrath was told.

the great slow tiger smile of Uncle Joe himself.

This same design is sure to turn up at least 18,000 times during the contest. All the judges will have to do is to pick the 14 best—14, of course, that show the full moon face of Stalin as larger than the Kremlin.

And the judges and designers will share an unusual prize. They will be the first Tozaviches in the history of the U.S.S.R. to achieve a government goal without a five-year plan.

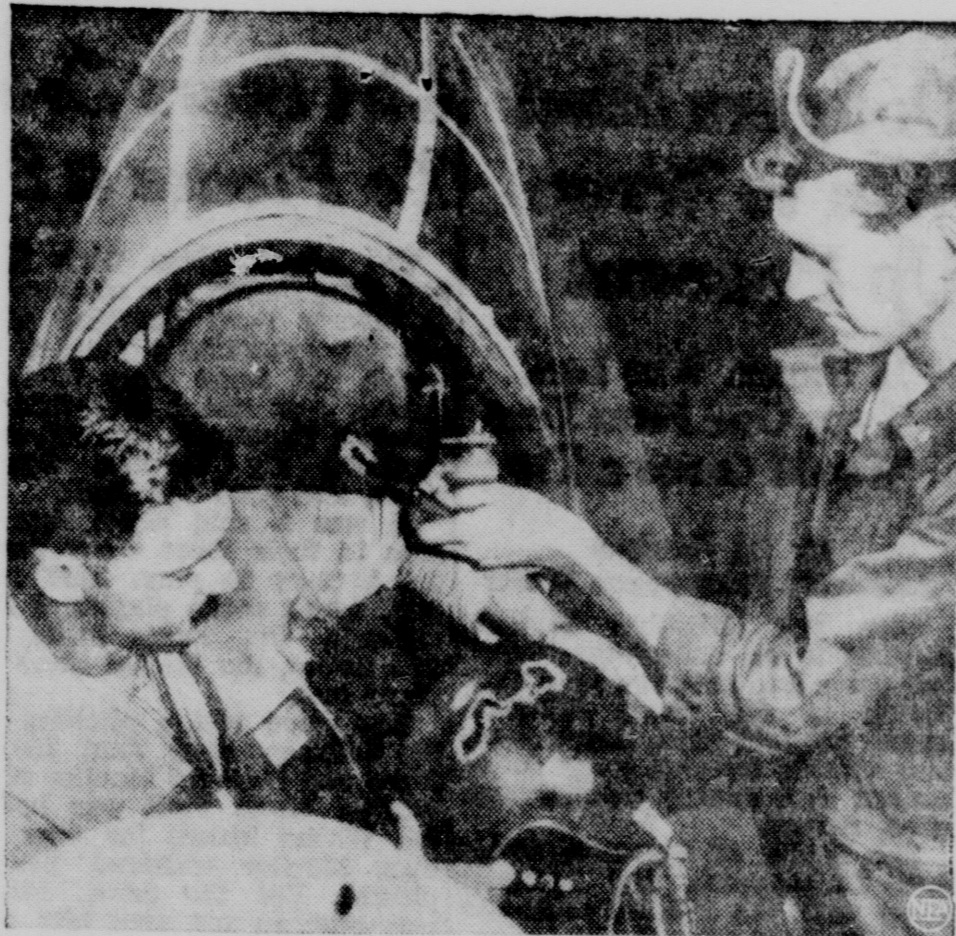

The whole project, however, must be disheartening to the average Russian worker. His problem isn't what necktie to wear. Any necktie will do so long as it isn't hemp. What bothers him is how to raise the rubles to buy a necktie at all.

And if the government announces 14 new prize-winning necktie designs, all featuring a portrait of Stalin, what's he going to do?

He knows his duty in advance. Somehow, even if he has to hock his shoes, he'll have to get together enough rubles to buy all 14 neckties.

And next Christmas he and all the other Russians can hand them back and forth to each other as surprise presents.

Ground-Air Train Assault

NEUSTADT, Germany, Sept. 28 —(P)—More than 100,000 Allied troops under French direction kicked off early today on a joint ground-air training assault against "enemy" troops on the east bank of the Rhine.

Under aerial support of warplanes representing eight Atlantic Pact nations, the ground troops of three nations—France, America and Holland—moved out to cross the Rhine on pontoon bridges and in assault boats.

South of Heidelberg, French airborne troops were readied to jump from U.S. Air Force planes in a practice aerial assault as a part of the three-day mock battle.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, SHAPE commander, planned to watch the maneuvers today and return to his headquarters near Paris tomorrow.

One of the main purposes of the maneuvers is to meld troops of mixed nationalities in an efficient North Atlantic Pact Organization fighting force.

St. Peters' Saints of Jefferson City will invade the Liberty Park gridiron tonight to do battle with Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow's Smith-Cotton Tigers. The opening kickoff is scheduled to be made at 8:00 p. m.

This will be the third game of the young season for both teams and both squads boast clean slates. The Tigers have victories over Marshall's Owls and the Kemper Yellow Jacks, while the Saints have taken the measure of Missouri Military Academy's Colonels and the Missouri School for the Deaf.

Saints Are Aerial Minded

Coach Gene Hart will field an aerial minded team while Dow is expected to keep his Bengals on the ground. The Saints will be handicapped against Sedalia on the weight side, their thin 24-man squad averaging only 145 pounds. Dow's starting eleven will weigh in at around 170 pounds.

Smith-Cotton went through a game dress practice Thursday evening, brushing up on both the single-wing and T formation plays and working on defensive patterns.

Neither club has reported any player injured badly enough to miss the contest, although minor scratches and bruises prevail on both teams.

Little Jimmy Rackers is expected to put on a sensational aerial exhibition for the Capital Citizens with Don Schnieders, Dave Eggers, Harry Jansen and George Hohenstreet as his key receivers. Al Struttman, burly fullback, is also slated to test the Tiger forward wall. If he is as successful against S-C as he was against M. S. D., the locals will be in for an evening of trouble.

St. Peters, surprise winners in their first two starts, are definite underdogs according to the Jefferson City News-Tribune.

The Saints operate out of the Split T while Smith-Cotton will probably use both the single wing and the straight T. Rackers is the Saints signal caller and Joe Plassmeyer is their chief thrower. He's a righthanded passer, good runner and plays three backfield positions.

The Tigers Favored?

Dow stated Thursday evening that he had no plans for a change in the starting line-up.

The Saints also wound up preparations for the game yesterday afternoon with a limbering up drill and work on play patterns.

The Tigers have an edge in experience, with nine lettermen and three provisional letter winners back, compared with four St. Peters' lettermen. The Bengals possess a definite size advantage as was pointed out, but the Saints hold the upper hand with the always dangerous forward pass.

St. Peters, who has always had a large following, is expected to bring a large group of supporters to Sedalia for the game. For Sedalia fans, the game may be one of the best played here this year. Coach Dow recently claimed the Saints had one of the top backfields in Central Missouri grid circles.

Frick Fines Three Dodgers For Causing Scene at Umps' Door

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—President Ford Frick of the National League fined three Brooklyn players—Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Preacher Roe—for causing a scene in front of the umpires' dressing room after yesterday's controversial Brooklyn-Boston game in Boston. Dodger players kicked at the door of the umpires' room after the game.

Frick, newly elected commissioner of baseball, took no action against catcher Campanella for his argument with umpire Frank Dascoli in the eighth inning which led to Campanella's ejection from the game.

Robinson and Campanella were fined $100 each and Roe was fined $50.

Hubbard High Opens Season On Saturday

Hubbard High's Tigers concluded preparation for their gridiron battle with the R. T. Coles Saturday at Kansas City. The team is in high spirit, excellent condition and has shown considerable improvement in scrimmage sessions during the past week. Coach Carl Tuggle has been working the Hubbard boys on passing and various defensive formations.

The Tigers have a well balanced club, despite the fact that only seven players returned from the 1950 eleven. Many of the new players have shown outstanding ability to rate themselves a berth on the starting squad.

Tuggle is making no predictions, but from the general shape of the team after four weeks of preparation, he, the team and the student body at Hubbard are looking forward to a successful season.

Aerial Duel As Iowa State Goes to K. U.

Elsewhere in Big 7
Teams Get Set For Tests Saturday

By Skipper Patrick
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28.—(AP)—It's a safe bet that the air will be jammed with passes when Kansas' Jayhawks and the Iowa State Cyclones open big Seven conference football competition at Lawrence Saturday.

Kansas has striking power on the ground, but coach Jules Sikes favors the air game in his offensive pattern and this year he has the boys to execute the plays.

Last season, after losing its star passer, Jerry Bogue, due to injuries, Kansas gained only 352 air yards. That compared with a 2,604-yard total picked up Sikes' teams of 1948 and 1949.

Bogue is back in full gear and the Jayhawks came up with a new pitching star in Jerry Robertson, who flipped for two touchdowns as Kansas whipped TCU, 27-13, last week.

And since there is a strong possibility that ace running back Charlie Hoag will play only briefly because of injuries, Kansas is expected to throw often.

Iowa State lost aerial Combo
Iowa State lost by graduation the Big Seven record breaking aerial threesome of quarterback Bill Weeks and ends Sy Wilhelm and Jim Doran, but the Cyclones have a new star in quarterback passer Dick Mann, who completed three touchdowns tossed against Wayne last Saturday.

Kansas beat Iowa State, 33-21, with a great display of ground power last year. Iowa State last won in the series, 19-6, in 1949. The "B" teams of Kansas and Iowa State play at Lawrence today.

Elsewhere about the Big Seven:
The Nebraska Cornhuskers will have ailing All America Bobby Reynolds in uniform for the opener with TCU at Lincoln, but the halfback will be available only to kick points after touchdowns. Coach Bill Glassford says Reynolds' first game will be against Minnesota October 20.

Faurol Changes Line-Up

At Columbia, Mo., coach Don Faurol plans a number of line-up changes for his Missouri Tigers' game with Oklahoma A. and M. Harold Carter, one of the Tigers' better running backs, will have to play considerable defense, too.

The Oklahoma Sooners wound up practice for their opening with William and Mary at Norman and will spend tonight in nearby Oklahoma City, an old custom with Coach Bud Wilkinson's teams.

Colorado was enroute for Evanston, Ill., where the Buffaloes meet Northwestern. The Kansas State Wildcats were headed for Iowa City where they'll play Iowa University.

playoff will begin at Ebets Field on Monday.

The second and third, if necessary games, of the best of three series would be played at the Polo Grounds on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dodgers Must Win to Wrap Up Pennant

If Giants Win Last
Two, One Bum Loss
Would Cause a Tie

By Ed Corrigan
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the Brooklyn Dodgers clinging to an end-of-the-branch half game lead over the New York Giants in the torrid National league pennant race, Brook manager Charlie Dressen today found himself in a mighty ticklish situation, indeed.

The Pirates of Gowanus reeled into Philadelphia for tonight's game with the Phillies with this situation facing them:

In order to insure themselves the pennant they must sweep all three games with the Phils over the week-end, assuming of course the New York Giants win both their remaining contests with the Boston Braves in Beantown starting tomorrow.

If they lose one and the Giants win two, the race will end in a deadlock.

Brooklyn's ace Preacher Roe failed yesterday, absorbing a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Braves.

Yanks Can Clinch It Today

As for the American league, the New York Yankees are in a position to breathe a little easier, what with their 2½ game bulge over the Cleveland Indians. The Yanks, in fact, can clinch the pennant today if they whip the Boston Red Sox in a doubleheader.

The Sox are ripe, too, after being eliminated mathematically from the race by the Washington Senators, 8-6.

The magic number remains two for the Yanks—any combination of two New York triumphs or two Indian losses. The Tribe has two games to play, the Yanks five.

Brook Bench Cleared

The excited Dodgers really blew their tops yesterday at umpire Frank Dascoli, who called Bob Addis safe at home with what proved to be the winning run in the eighth. Dascoli cleared the Brook bench and threw out catcher Roy Campanella and coach Cookie Lavagetto.

Rookie Duke Markell hung up his first major league triumph as the first baseman in the eighth inning when he threw Stoll out at first to Wiley, who threw to Barbara Payne to double Pearson at second.

The Blues' score came in the sixth when Janet Wiley singled, went to second on Faut's single, and to third on a fielder's choice.

Doris Sams singled scoring Wiley. In the eighth the other score was made when Sams reached first on Faralla. Jones singled and Sams an error by Georgette Vincent and took second as the ball went sailing past first baseman Lillian

Girl Stars Brave Frigid Air To Please a Small Turn-out

The All-American Girls Baseball Stars played to a small crowd at Liberty Park Thursday night, but they presented a brand of ball which put some male teams in shame. Just about everything in baseball happened, double plays, fantastic fly catches, squeeze plays, and good fielding.

It was a cold night, but the girls in their short skirts braved the breezes to play. Cold as it was, which made playing a little difficult, the teams made only five errors, the Whites three and Blues two.

The game was a pitchers battle between Jean Faut for the Blues and Dorothy Mueller of the Whites. While Faut was holding the Whites hitless for four innings, Mueller scattered her hit pitches. For the game, Mueller was touched for nine hits while Faut gave up two. Both gave up one walk. Faut struck out two and Mueller five.

Miss Stoll Steals Show

Jane Stoll, the Whites' center fielder, made three sensational catches, which would make some men outfielders blush. In the third inning the young lass came running from deep center to within only a few feet of second base to make a one-hand stab of a fly ball. She later made a wild dash into deep left center to take a long fly to rob Janet Wiley.

Quick thinking by catcher Marilyn Jones and Faut came in the sixth when Mary Carey tried to score from third base. Carey had reached second on an error by Faut. Rita Briggs singled and Carey went to third, and on the throw home Briggs went to second and Carey tried to score.

Jones made a fake throw to second, throwing to Faut, who quickly returned the ball to catch Carey at the plate.

Miss Faut in Double Plays

Miss Faut figured in two double plays. The first in the fourth she caught Stoll's fly and doubled Pearson at second on the throw to R. Steven. The second was in the seventh inning when she threw Stoll out at first to Wiley, who threw to Barbara Payne to double Pearson at second.

The Blues' score came in the sixth when Janet Wiley singled, went to second on Faut's single, and to third on a fielder's choice.

Doris Sams singled scoring Wiley. In the eighth the other score was made when Sams reached first on Faralla. Jones singled and Sams an error by Georgette Vincent and took second as the ball went sailing past first baseman Lillian

NO SURVIVORS

BY WILL HENRY

DISTRIBUTED BY MEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Captured by Sioux Chief Crazy Horse after the Battle of Little Bighorn, John Henry, ex-officer of the Confederate army, has been accepted by the Indians. But Clayton, a man of the North, an Indian boy, who saved him from death after his wounds, and Clayton agrees to take Clayton to her, although Clayton is warned that he cannot have her and live.

I HAD covered three-fourths of the distance to the falls before discovering tracks. Hence, a few minutes' trailing brought me close in under the dizzy granite walls from which the water took its rioting plunge into the valley. Here were dense woods of pine the ground rising sharply under me as I went forward. The sound of the falls was becoming deafening, indicating any moment must bring me to the base.

On the side of the main pool, nearest me, a great flat boulder jutted out. In the surface of this a depression about 10 feet deep and 30 across had been formed by centuries of splashing backsprays. This depression was kept full by constant replenishing spray, forming a natural bathing pool.

To the rear of the pool a shelf of granite stood out from the encroaching cover of timber, providing a diving platform for entry into the water. I had scarcely time to note these things when any thought of natural beauty was devastated by the startling appearance of a girl on the diving-rock below.

She stepped quickly out of the darkness of the pines, walked to the edge of the diving rock.

For an instant she poised on the rock's edge, balancing as lightly as a butterfly on a flower petal, then she was gone in an arching, clean dive and a rainbow spray of green water, her slim body cleaving the sun-dappled surface of the pool, a slender arrow of red landing into a bright shield of blue-green.

As she swam, darting, diving, affected by fashionable women in the States. Pendant from this chain, in the manner of a locket, was a silver amulet no more than two inches in diameter, heavily worked, and grasping securely in the exact center of its carvings a perfect cobalt-blue star sapphire of tremendous size and brilliance.

The opalescent fire in the heart of this great gem flashed and burned against the copper-red of the girl's skin.

The design which held the jewel was in the motif of two entwined reptiles supported on the spread wings of a bird. The former appeared to be renderings of the Montezuma feathered-serpent God, while the latter was most certainly a quetzal, sacred bird symbol of the Nahuatl Indians at the time of Cortez. There could be no question, even in such a cursory examination, that the odd talisman was Aztec in origin.

Immediately my mind returned to actuality, a region for which disposition and training had far better fitted it. Blushing in a style to shame any peeping schoolboy, I turned my back to North Star, standing patiently until she spoke again.

From behind me, presently, came a typically Indian instruction. "Hopo, let's go," said North Star, her low, husky voice setting me to quaking all over again.

CLAD from head to foot in cotton-white furs and snowy doekins, replete with colored moccasins and leggings beaded with the rarest Sioux workmanship, caped and hooded by a parklike garment of prime arctic fox pelts, Star's appearance made a memory with which any man might live forever, knowing he had seen true beauty.

"Everything is good for the eyes," I managed, worshipfully, my gaze sweeping in the whole wonderful picture of her.

"Hoo-kah-yeh!" she answered, laughing, suiting motion to phrase by setting off down-trail, walking lithely-hipped and pantherish, I felt in by her side and we traveled silently, our tongues as hushed as the fall of our moccasins in the fresh snow.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

The Political Graft Is Destroying Clean Gov't

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The nation's capital today is witnessing the most nauseating spasm of large and petty graft since this newspaper began covering Washington.

There are several reasons for this, as previously enumerated in this column, one of them being the fact that government officials have lost their sense of smell.

When the man at the top in government can't smell the bad odor arising from the distribution of deep freezes by his military aide, or when he defends the Commodity Grain speculation of his White House doctor, and tolerates airline lobbying by his chief secretary, then the olfactory nerves of those around him get dull too.

Another important reason for the sickening spectacle of graft and favoritism, however, is the current system of political campaign contributions. This is something the public little realizes.

It has now become a standard practice for both big business and labor unions to obligate congressmen. After you have made your contribution to a congressman's political campaign, you then benefit by influencing his vote on legislation of interest to you, or getting him to call up government agencies in order to secure loans, priorities or government contracts.

This practice has become so widespread that many otherwise fine senators and representatives get so in hook politically that they can hardly call their souls their own.

Getting Big Loan

Here is how the system works: Out in Los Angeles, members of the Harvey Machine company contribute heavily to the campaign funds of several congressmen. Most of the time they bet their money on Democrats, because the Democrats are in power. But sometimes they also back Republicans. In addition, Lawrence Harvey wants to be Democratic national committeeman from California, chips in $1,000 at each of the last two Jackson Day dinners and serves on the $100-a-plate committee welcoming Truman to Los Angeles October 8.

Simultaneously the Harvey company wants a big loan to build an aluminum plant. A lot of wires are pulled, congressmen who are recipients of campaign contributions go to bat, and lo and behold, Harvey comes up with a $46,000,000 loan. There's a lot more to the story than that, but one of the most important features is the way certain very fine congressmen have to become messenger boys for Harvey largely to pay off a political debt.

It doesn't make for clean or efficient government.

China Lobby Contributes

Or take another case. When Senator Bridges of Maine last ran for re-election in New Hampshire Alfred Kohlberg, who lives in New York, not New Hampshire, contributed $1,000 to Bridges' campaign. Kohlberg just happens to be the key man in the China lobby.

Another Bridges contributor, in fact his heaviest, also lives a long way from New Hampshire—in San Francisco. He is Edward Heller, whose wife happens to be Democratic committeewoman for California. Yet Heller, a Democrat, contributed $3,000 to help Senator Bridges, a Republican, stay in the Senate from New Hampshire.

Significantly, Heller is director of the Wells Fargo bank of San Francisco, biggest repository of Chinese Nationalist money. Significant also, Bridges, both before and since his election, has gone out of his way to defend Chiang

Both High School Grid Teams Lost This Game

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28.—(P)—Ever hear of a football game in which both teams lost?

Two Portland high schools achieved it.

One of the teams, Roosevelt, came out the nominal winner, 34-0, but then it was discovered two ineligible players had been used. Roosevelt was ordered to forfeit the game.

Next it was learned the other team, Cleveland, also had used an ineligible player. Someone suggested cancelling the whole affair, but officials protested that the offending teams would be getting off without a penalty.

So a forfeit defeat was marked against both teams.

Culver-Stockton Wins 39 to 12 Over Tarkio

CANTON, Mo., Sept. 28.—(P)—Culver-Stockton out-sprinted Tarkio here last night, 39-12, in the first MCAU (Missouri Athletic Union) football game of the season for both squads.

Sparked by long runs, the Wildcats scored in every period and held a 19-0 halftime lead.

Bathroom Surprise

CENTRALIA, Ill. — (P) — A shocking incident had the Sam Kelton family at Marion, Ill., looking cautiously about their bathroom for several days before they would enter. Mrs. Kelton had walked in and stepped on a three foot long water moccasin snake partly coiled around a bathroom fixture. Her husband killed it.

Junior Golf Meet To Be Saturday Instead of Sunday

The Elm Hills Junior Golf tournament has been changed to Saturday, September 29 instead of Sunday. The change in the date was made necessary due to the Match Play tournament between Elm Hills and the Country Club which starts Sunday afternoon.

The Junior tournament is for all players under 19 years of age. The tournament starts at 9:00 a. m. Saturday morning with the last registration for teeing-off at 11:30 a. m. It will be a 18-hole tournament.

Sunday the Elm Hills team will be host to the Country club in the 18-hole match play. Teeing off on this tournament starts at 1:00 p. m.

On Sunday, Oct. 7, the Country club will be host to the Elm Hills team.

T. H. "Tom" Yount will handle the Country club team. Both teams will be composed of twenty players.

7 Revenue Agents Suspended Pending Probe Of Activities

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—The entire top brass of the northern California Internal Revenue Bureau Office was suspended today over what officials termed "certain irregularities."

Internal Revenue Collector James G. Smyth and six of his top aides were suspended without charge pending a complete probe of the office. Smyth termed the action "outrageous."

Two other revenue employees were accused of conspiracy and embezzlement.

Officers said he admitted defrauding the government out of about $5,000 by post-dating tax receipts of favored taxpayers. Miss Frisbie is charged with embezzling about $5,000 from an employee's credit union she managed.

Smyth said the action deprived the revenue office here of all its leaders.

The six, were described as "career employees" who have devoted their lives to government service," said Smyth.

Driver Arrested After Collision Here Thursday

A 1929 car, driven by Don Carver, 1308 East Seventh, and a 1937 pick-up truck, driven by Charles Dietzman, 308 East Third, collided at 24th and Washington at 4:40 p. m. Thursday.

Dietzman was traveling north on Washington, and Carver was going east on 24th at the time of the accident.

"Bobby" Dietzman, who was riding in the back of the pick-up, was thrown into a ditch. He received several scratches and a large knot on his forehead. Leslie, Carver, who was riding in the car, was cut on the forehead and received a knee injury. Don Carver received an arm injury, but it is not believed to be severe.

Both vehicles were badly damaged. The front of the car was smashed in and the driver's side of the pick-up and the right rear fender were crumpled.

Carver was arrested for careless and reckless driving. He posted a $200 signed bond and is to appear in police court Monday, October 1.

US Guns Still Fire World War II Shells

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Sept. 28.—American guns firing tremendous artillery barrages in Korea are still using shells stockpiled from World War II.

American artillery had fired 8,200,000 rounds through the first of September—and all of it was manufactured during or before 1945. The total does not include this month's fighting on the eastern front, where single objectives have sometimes been shattered with up to 15,000 rounds a day.

"We don't know when we'll use up the World War II stocks," said Col. R. C. White of Buffalo, N. Y., Eighth Army artillery officer. "We won't know until shells start to come in with later dates stamped on them."

Ceiling Goes-Up On Beef

OPS Approves 1 1/2-2 Cent Hike In Retail Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The price of beef at the butcher's counter was hiked by the government today an average of 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound.

Along with the announcement of new ceilings, the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) put markets on notice they soon will have to post prices so they can be seen easily by customers. This will be done as soon as OPS can print posters, it said.

The price changes are effective Monday. They will range from a boost of as much as 29 cents a pound on some utility grade cuts to a drop of 20 cents a pound on some choice grade cuts of brisket or stewing beef.

Average Boost One-Cent
OPS officials said, however, that the average increase on choice grades of beef—the largest selling grade—probably will not average more than a penny a pound. Choice grades account for about 35 per cent of the meat supply going to consumers.

Utility grade cuts, on which the sharpest increases apply, account for not more than ten per cent of all beef sales. Little of this lower grade is sold over the counter. Mostly it is used in processing—for sausage, smoked and cured meat.

As an example of the increases which will affect most people, regular hamburger containing up to 25 per cent fat will go up about a penny a pound on the average. The better grade, lean ground hamburger containing up to 12 per cent fat, will cost from 10 to 5 cents a pound more.

The prices will differ in various sections of the country for all beef. Ceilings are provided for 25 zones into which the country has been split for pricing purposes. In addition the ceilings will vary with the size of the store—from the smallest rural butcher to the big city supermarkets.

Some Cuts To Drop
Round steak and chuck roasts—the most popular selling cuts—will be boosted from two to eight cents a pound. The higher price cuts, such as porterhouse steaks which have not been selling as well, will drop from four to eight cents a pound.

The new retail ceiling are based on the revised wholesale ceilings which became effective last week. Wholesale prices were raised about a cent a pound to make up for losses packers have been suffering through lower prices for tallow and hides. Prices of these important by-products have declined sharply since early summer, thus cutting the revenue of slaughterers.

Senate-House Group Approves Aid Levy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Senate-House conferees today approved a $7,483,400,000 foreign aid bill setting up a new super agency to boss the entire program of economic and military aid to the non-Communist world.

Under the bill, the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA)—which now administers economic aid to the Marshall plan countries—would be abolished.

As a replacement for ECA, President Truman would be authorized to establish a new "mutual security" agency and appoint a $22,500-a-year director with sweeping powers. The director would have his headquarters in the White House.

Agreement on the measure followed bitter disputes over the State Department's role in the huge program. Some Congress members have contended that under the regime of Secretary of State Acheson the department has attempted to dictate policy in the military realm as well as in the field of international diplomacy.

King Names Council To Act During Illness

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—King George VI today appointed a council of state, including his queen and his daughters, to act for him during the long operation of his recovery from a lung operation.

The announcement from Buckingham Palace came a short time after Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh decided to go ahead with their Canadian tour, starting from Quebec Oct. 9.

The heiress presumptive to the British throne will share duties on the council with Queen Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the King's brother, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Princess Royal, his sister. A Buckingham Palace spokesman said, however, there is no constitutional bar to Princess Elizabeth's leaving England under the circumstances.

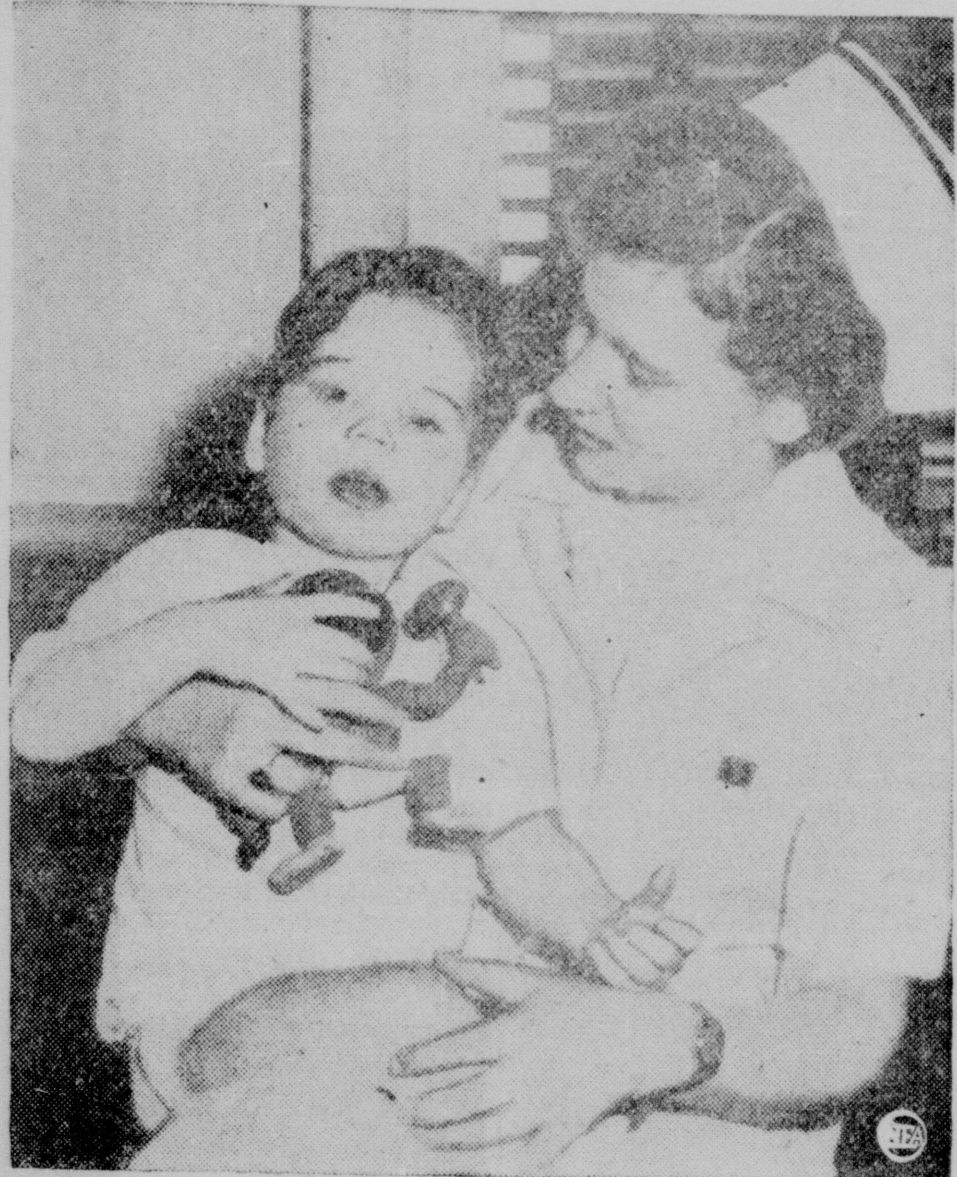

Dewey Fires 2 Involved In Staten Island Scandal

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Two state executives were relieved of their duties today, as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sternly and swiftly cracked down on the Staten Island political scandal.

Dewey directed much of his ire at Edward A. Ruppell, the Staten Island leader of the governor's own Republican party.

Ruppell was accused at state crime hearings of taking payoffs for political favors.

Part Of Fight Against Graft

Truman Seeks Law To Expose Incomes Of All US Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Truman, taking note of charges that graft is "running rampant," asked Congress today for swift passage of a law to expose the total income of all top U. S. officials each year—including the lawmakers.

In a dramatic and unheralded move, the President said it should be spread on the public record exactly how much money, gifts or loans are received by those responsible for running the nation.

He said the list should include members of Congress themselves as well as cabinet members, generals, admirals, judges, all high-salaried government employees, and bigwigs of both major political parties.

A Guard Against Suspicion
Mr. Truman urged the lawmakers in a special message to enact the legislation promptly as an important step to prevent "improper conduct" and guard against "unfounded suspicions."

Mr. Truman said the truth should be known, partly because there has been "a deliberate effort to discredit the government service."

The President sent the message to the Capitol even as his own party chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr., took the witness stand as the central figure in the latest of a long series of congressional investigations into charges of tricky deals in high places.

Boyle appeared before a Senate inquiry committee which is looking into published reports that he used his influence as chairman of the Democratic National Committee to sway big government loans. He denied them.

Revenue Chief Suspended
Also today, Mr. Truman disclosed he had suspended the collector of internal revenue at San Francisco on grounds of "incompetency" and the revenue bureau announced the suspension of eight others in the same office, one of them accused of embezzlement and one charged with juggling accounts.

Mr. Truman, in his proposal,

Senate Approves Bill To End Tax Exemption Of US Leaders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Senate today overwhelmingly approved legislation to knock out tax exemptions enjoyed by the President, Vice President and members of Congress—and thus to cut their pay—beginning in 1953.

The measure, if approved by the House, will eliminate exemptions on expense accounts allowed these officials.

The effective date would be Jan. 3, 1953. This would involve the last 17 days of the terms for President Truman and Vice President Barkley, but would not affect the present 82nd Congress.

Vote 77-11

The vote was 77-11. The measure was in the form of an amendment to the Senate's bill to increase taxes an estimated $5,500,000 a year, on which the Senate opened its eighth day of debate today.

Senator Williams (R-Del) sponsor of the successful amendment, expressed belief that top government officials should give up these tax-free allowances when suggested violations be punished on the same basis as violations of the income-tax laws.

On Capitol hill, the President's proposal got a mixed reception, with little enthusiasm in evidence. Senator Capehart (R-Ind) told the Senate:

"It is a sad thing that for the first time in the 175-year history of the republic it is necessary to pass legislation to clean up corruption in government."

Jessup Target Of New Attack By McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) brought new charges today against Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup, accusing him of having been connected with six Communist front organizations.

The charges immediately drew sharp demands for proof by some members of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee considering Jessup's renomination as a U. N. delegate.

With Jessup in the audience, McCarthy testified for two hours under oath in support of his contention the Senate should refuse to confirm the diplomat's nomination. Jessup has served before as U. N. delegate.

The Wisconsin Senator brought a 28-page brief of material relating to Jessup's record. It was bound in a deep pink cover.

He repeated charges today that Jessup has "an unusual affinity for Communist causes." He said the six organizations with which he claimed Jessup was associated had officially been declared Communist front and were "doing the work of the Communist party."

Jessup, who has repeatedly denied McCarthy's contentions, told reporters during a brief recess he was not worried about the Senator's charges against him.

"Do you think I should be?" Jessup smilingly asked.

McCarthy identified two of the organizations as: The American Law Students' Association and the National Emergency Council for Democratic Rights. The session recessed when the Senator had completed about one quarter of his testimony.

It will be resumed next Tuesday with McCarthy again on the stand.

Truman Hopeful For Iran

President Refuses To Believe Deadlock An Impossible Issue

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Tehran, Iran said today Iranian troops have seized complete control of the huge refinery at Abadan and barred the entrance of British personnel.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Truman expressed the hope today that there will be a peaceful solution of the explosive Iranian-British oil dispute.

But he said there is no plan to send W. Averell Harriman, his special assistant, back to Iran as a mediator.

And he refused to tell his news conference about the nature of his exchange of messages with Prime Minister Attlee, of Great Britain.

Session Rather Drab
The Iranian question was one of a score that came up on today's news conference. On the whole it was a rather drab affair, except for the President's snappy new brown suit.

Mr. Truman said he is always hoping for peace in the world and while sometimes it does not come to fruition he is still hoping for an Iranian settlement.

On the domestic front, the President said he still has confidence in William M. Boyle, Jr., the Democratic National Chairman, and nothing has come out of the Senate hearings to change that opinion.

Many of the reporters' questions dealt with the President's message to Congress earlier today recommending legislation to require members of Congress, and top government officials and party committee officers to disclose annually their total income and the sources.

Greed, Clouds Duty

A reporter noted one reference in his message to the effect that the bulk of government workers are honest, but sometimes there are cases where members of the executive and legislative branches let their public acts be "swayed by private interest." The newsmen wanted to know if there are some cases of the latter type that have not been made public.

Mr. Truman replied there are none that he knows of.

The President said he is opposed to proceeding with the Niagara power project independently of St. Lawrence seaway and power project. He will discuss these projects with Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent here tomorrow.

Asked, in view of the power shortage in the country, whether he plans to do anything to hurry along development of the Passamaquoddy tide-harnessing project in Maine, he said he has been anxious to get it started for six years. He added that, aside from Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me), no one else in the area seems to be for it.

A Part Of Power Pool
He added this all links up with a power pool which would include the St. Lawrence undertaking.

The President said he has not yet decided whom to appoint to head the new mutual security agency which, under a compromise deal agreed on today by Senate House conferees, would have general supervision of the big foreign aid program.

Mr. Truman Advises Iran Not To Expell British From Abadan

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Truman stepped into the ominous oil controversy today with an appeal to Iran not to throw the British out of the Abadan refinery.

Qualified sources said the President also counseled the British against the use of armed force to protect property in Iran.

American policy in the past has held that force could not be justified unless it is needed to save British lives.

Iran threatened to blow up the refinery, the world's largest, if the British do land at Abadan.

The British cabinet met in urgent session and sent off a message asking Iran's Shah Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlavi to have his government revoke its ouster order. Under it, the 317 remaining British oil technicians must leave Iran by next Thursday.

After making the appeal to the Shah, the British cabinet decided to stand pat on hopes for a reversal of the ouster.

Gibson, who was previously married, is fighting the dismissal order, effective Nov. 2. An overflow crowd of 400 parents and pupils whistled, cheered and applauded as the couple entered the meeting room together. Another public hearing was scheduled for Sept. 26. Boyle Claims Senate Hearing Clears Him Of Graft Charge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Link, the Post-Dispatch reporter who wrote the Lithofold stories, will testify tomorrow, perhaps as the last witness.

Gabrielson Next
Next week the committee will turn its attention to the relations of Republican National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson with the RFC. Gabrielson has acknowledged negotiating with the loan agency concerning $18,500,000 worth of loans to Carthage Hydro Inc., of which he is president and general counsel.

Gabrielson contends the negotiations were "ethical and proper," but several Republican Senators have criticized him and some have called for his resignation.

House Hears Plan To Save Paper Supply
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A government-sponsored plan to save newsprint by voluntarily cutting down on the number of newspapers printed for street sale was disclosed to a House committee today.

Arthur Treanor, director of the National Production Authority's printing and publishing division, told a House commerce subcommittee and announcement is likely tomorrow of the initial operation of the plan.

The subcommittee is studying newsprint supplies.

Treanor indicated the conservation program is based on newspaper publishers entering into an agreement under government auspices to reduce the number of papers that are sent to distributors or street vendors.

The plan, he said, required the approval of Attorney General J. Howard McGrath to avoid possible violation of anti-trust laws. This approval has been given, said Treanor, so publishers participating in the program will not be liable to charges of entering into combination in restraint of trade.

Treanor said a city has been chosen for a trial run of the plan and it has been submitted to certain publishers.

He said a study of ten cities indicated that 184,000 tons of newsprint could be saved annually under the program.

The cities under consideration, Treanor said, include New York, Washington, Detroit, Los Angeles, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

No Retraction Demanded
Mundt said he was "shocked" when he learned that Boyle did not demand a retraction from the newspaper.

"The matter is now in the hands of my counsel," Boyle said.

Chairman Hoey (D-NC) said committee investigators had interviewed representatives of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and that the newspaper people "so far have produced absolutely no evidence" to back up the charges against Boyle.

Hoey announced that Theodore

Gross Given 12-Year Term

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Boss bookie Harry Gross was sentenced to 12 years in prison today, partly for wrecking Brooklyn's big graft case against 18 policemen.

A three-man special session court penalized him as operator of a $20,000,000 gambling ring that paid $1,000,000 a year bribes to police.

But Presiding Justice William B. Northrup made it plain the sentence also was based on Gross' dramatic refusal last week to testify against the cops.

Michael Kern, attorney for the dapper, fleshy bookie, said the sentence would be appealed at once.

Gross apparently took it with-out batting an eye. He showed no emotion as he was hustled off to jail.

He did mutter: "You'd think I'd committed murder or something."

He could have gotten 68 years and nearly $34,000 in fines on 68 counts of gambling and conspiracy. Even the state didn't hope for that much, however.

Dist. Attorney Miles F. McDonald was shooting for a sentence of about eight or at the most 12 years, plus a fine.

There was no fine.

Red Troops Pound UN-Held Positions In Mounting Fury

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Communist troops loosed attacks up to regimental strength in central and eastern Korea Thursday, touching off battles that still raged today.

American and French infantrymen, however, kept up the pressure on Red-held "Heartbreak Ridge" in eastern Korea. They renewed assaults only yards from the top of the highest peak.

The rash of Communist attacks began Thursday and stretched from the Iron Triangle area of central Korea eastward to the Punchbowl in the mountainous east.

An Eighth Army staff officer said several pitched battles raged past midnight.

Tactical Bombers Busy
As fighting on the ground intensified, Far East Air Forces warplanes stepped up their campaign against Communist supplies with more than 1,000 flights. Fifth Air Force light bombers Thursday destroyed or damaged 1,121 enemy vehicles, a new single day's high for Korean war, the Air Force said.

United Nations naval vessels continued their bombardment of enemy installations on both the east and west coasts. British Frigates St. Brides Bay and Murchison steamed up the shallow waters of the Han river in western Korea to shell enemy positions.

Early Thursday, Allied troops repulsed two Communist probing attacks on a newly-won hill south-east of Heartbreak Ridge.

Allies Win Air Victory
In the air over northwest Korea, the greatest three-day jet campaign ever mounted ended with victory for the Allies. Thirty-four American Sabrejets fought a 25-minute dogfight with 50 Russian-type MIGs Thursday damaging two of the Communist jets, according to Air Force reports.

Another flight of 24 Thunderjets had a brush with 40 MIGs, but there was not enough shooting to do damage to either side.

The three days of jet battles—which included the biggest and the longest in history—saw a total of 229 Allied jets oppose 325 MIGs in six separate battles.

U. S. Fifth Air Force headquarters reported the score: Six MIGs shot down, one probably destroyed and 19 damaged, against one Allied plane destroyed and two damaged.

Gabreski Confident
"We can still handle them—as you can see from the figures," said Col. Francis S. Gabreski, deputy commander of a Sabrejet wing. His pilots reported a "Super-MIG" in action, possibly the crack MIG-19.

The Fifth Air Force said Thursday that 277 MIG fighters had been destroyed or damaged since the first Communist jet was shot down over Korea last Nov. 8. Seventy-four of these were listed as definitely destroyed.

An Air Force spokesman said Allied pilots "have been only a handful in spite of fighting against odds of two and three to one."

Wichita Police Fail To Catch Hendricks
WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Willis T. Hendricks, St. Louisian whose timing was better yesterday than that of the Reds, refused to discuss anything but a time and date for resuming the talks, referring to the Communist attitude, the information office declared.

"The significance of this... is obvious. The Reds at the present time are responsible for the calling off of the true talks. Such a turn of events does not help their so-called 'peace offensive,' which has been going on for many months now."

"Consequently, if the talks are resumed on their terms, the Communists may be planning to force on the delegates the endless questions of neutrality and violations of the nation's corn belt."

Forecast Thursday for much of the nation's corn belt.

Cold polar air streaming down from western Canada threatened serious damage to still growing corn and some later garden vegetables.

The weather bureau in Chicago predicted freezing temperatures or killing frost for the entire state of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin and for northern Illinois. Light to heavy frost was in prospect for north and central Illinois and Indiana.

The threatened killing frost is up to two weeks earlier than the average arrival date. With much of the corn crop behind schedule, farmers had hoped for at least two more weeks of growing weather.

US Guns Still Fire World War II Shells
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Sept. 27.—(AP)—American guns firing tremendous artillery barrages in Korea are still using shells stockpiled from World War II.

American artillery had fired 8,200,000 rounds through the first of September—and all of it was manufactured during or before 1945. The total does not include this month's fighting on the eastern front, where single objectives have sometimes been shattered with up to 15,000 rounds a day.

"We don't know when we'll use up the World War II stocks," said Col. R. C. White of Buffalo, N. Y., Eighth Army artillery officer. "We won't know until shells start to come in with later dates stamped on them."

Officers said he admitted defrauding the government out of about $5,000 by post-dating tax receipts of favored taxpayers.

Miss Frisbie is charged with embezzling about $5,000 from an employees credit union she managed.

Smyth said the action deprived the revenue office here of all its leaders.

The six, were described as "career employees" who have devoted their lives to government service," said Smyth.

Truman Announces Action
Smyth, whose suspension was announced by President Truman, was accused of failing to detect and prevent illegal activities by his employees. New head of the office is to be Charles F. Masarik, Jr., assistant to the collector of internal revenue in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Two other revenue employees were accused of conspiracy and embezzlement.

The action, announced in Washington, came during a federal grand jury probe of bureau offices here and in Fresno. The probe, picking up where the Kefauver committee left off last March, has featured charges of "shakedowns" and "fixing" income tax returns.

Smyth, whose suspension was announced by President Truman, was accused of failing to detect and prevent illegal activities by his employees. New head of the office is to be Charles F. Masarik, Jr., assistant to the collector of internal revenue in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Red Cross Corner

We are working hard to lay the foundation for a successful Blood Bank in November. The mobile unit will be back in Sedalia at the beginning of the Christmas season, and perhaps for that reason alone, more people will feel inclined to give a pint of blood for our men in Korea. One of the big projects is that of the Red Cross Baby Sitters. Many young mothers in Sedalia are able and willing to give blood, and to take part in the volunteer set-up. Always before, the difficulty of having someone to leave their small children with prevented them from doing so. From here on out, the situation will be different. There will be Baby Sitters at the Armory or in their homes who will take over all small children while their mothers are either giving blood or other ARC services. Registration for the Red Cross Baby Sitters Service are now being accepted. Call the office, 618, and volunteer.

Our Red Cross chapter has the necessary resources that are essential to a sound civil defense program. This program is based on the assumption that we have an alert, trained corps in the very heart of our population, a corps that will be able to meet the needs of any emergency, and to provide assistance to injured persons in their immediate area. Our First Aid instructors are trained for just such eventualities, and it is definitely conceded that basic training in Red Cross First Aid for as many citizens of the continental United States as is practically possible will provide a sound defense. We suggest that all church, civic and social groups plan to work in some Red Cross First Aid instruction into their fall and winter programs. Remember the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." To be prepared is not only a valuable slogan for the Boy and Girl Scout of America—it might be well adopted by everyone else.

Earl Jacquim, 39, charged with first degree murder in connection with the throat-slashing, gun shooting murder of his wife Mrs. Belma Jacquim, 33, on the afternoon of June 21, was held for the October term of criminal court at a preliminary hearing held Thursday. The hearing was held before Magistrate W. V. Blain who bound Jacquim over to the criminal court without bond.

Four witnesses were called to testify, Francis R. Farlow, 1327 West Main, Police Officer Herman Hoehns, Dr. J. M. Rodeman, who is the deputy coroner to Dr. C. G. Stauffer, coroner, and Thomas "Tommy" Miller, 1321 South Ohio.

Farlow in his statement explained of seeing part of the incident. He told of hearing a shot and then seeing Jacquim chasing his wife and striking her on the head with the butt of a gun he had. He said he summoned the police.

Officer Hoehns told of answering the call with Officer George Brown. He told of finding the body of Mrs. Jacquim lying in the dirt driveway of John Chapin, 1213 S. 12th, and Jacquim standing to the north of the body bleeding at the neck. He told of ordering Jacquim to drop the knife he held in his hands. Also of finding the gun broken to bits lying on the ground near the body.

Dr. Rodeman Testifies

Dr. Rodeman in his testimony told of going to the scene and viewing the body. He said the woman had gunshot wounds in the arm between the elbow and shoulder, several lacerations ranging from 2 1/2 to 4 inches long on her head, and her throat was slashed from about the middle part of the neck in front around the left side to the vertebra. A vein and artery was severed.

Dr. Rodeman also told of a visit to the county jail that evening at which time he said Jacquim asked "Is my wife hurt very much?" The doctor also told of hearing Jacquim give a statement regarding the killing to Prosecuting Attorney Mike Bogutski. At this point of the questioning of Dr. Rodeman, Prosecuting Attorney Bogutski read into the record the statement given by Jacquim at the county jail on the evening of June 21.

Miller as Witness

In the statement the name of "Tommy" was mentioned by Jacquim and it was later revealed the party referred to was Thomas "Tommy" Miller, who was called as a witness.

Miller stated he had known Mrs. Jacquim about a week, but knew nothing of her family troubles. He said he had been with her once in company with her brother and his girl friend at the Drive-In theatre, and had met her at Duffy's Tavern on Ohio between 15 and 16th when introduced by her brother.

As to the facts in the case, Miller said he knew nothing more than what appeared in the newspapers.

At the conclusion of Miller's testimony, Prosecuting Attorney Bogutski asked the defendant be bound over to the October term of criminal court without bond. Fred F. Wesner, representing Jacquim, stated to the court he felt the defendant was entitled to bond. After some discussion Judge Blain said: "I am afraid if I fixed a bond, it would be so big you couldn't give it."

Mr. Bogutski again objected to a bond, and recited evidence in the case. Judge Blain then ordered the binding over of the defendant and refused the defendant bond. Jacquim was represented in court by Mr. Wesner and Joseph T. Tate of Owensville, Mo.

Pettis County Taxpayers Can Figure Own Total Tax Rate For This Year Right Here

Just how much will your taxes be, come November 1 and it's time to make your annual settlement with the Pettis county collector?

If you know the assessed valuation of your property, you can soon figure your tax bill. Just find the necessary figures below, fill in the table at the right and do a bit of quick addition.

To start off with, there are a couple of figures paid by everyone — and each pays the same amount. One of these is the six-cent levy for the state which is collected by the county. That's the first figure on the table. The second figure is the county's 50-cent rate for general revenue.

Since the county has no bonded indebtedness, there are no bond taxes to be added this year.

The other rates are flexible, although there is a 35-cent road tax that everyone pays. Some, however, pay more than the 35-cent rate.

Road District Rates

If you own property in one of the following districts, use the rate that is listed for that district. Otherwise, if your property is anywhere else in the county, insert the 35-cent rate for your road tax.

Here are the special road districts with their higher rates, which, of course, include the 35 cents above:

Heath's Creek No. 5	65c
Houstonia No. 6	65c
Maple Lane No. 7	70c
Hughesville No. 11	55c
Trueman No. 12	70c
La Monte No. 20	70c
Flat Creek No. 36	70c
Green Ridge No. 40	60c

School District Levies

School taxes also vary according to the district in which your property is located. Find your school district and insert in the table the tax rate given for that district.

The school taxes are listed as follows for each district of the county, and the district are given by both name and number to help you find your own (district number first, then name and school tax rate):

2—Bunker Hill, $1.00; 3—Lone Star, $1.00; 4—Pacific, 65c; 9—Maplewood, 65c; 14—Hopewell, 65c; 15—Woodland, 75c; 19—Scott, 85c; 21—Postol, 85c; 23—Prairie Grove, 65c; 24—Southside, 40c; 25—Walnut, 65c.

26—Anderson, 75c; 27—Mosby, 75c; 28—Liberty, 65c; 29—Striped College, 40c; 30—High Point, 65c; 31—McVey, $1.00; 32—Oak Grove, 65c; 33—Sunny Side, 65c; 35—Tanglenook, $1.00; 36—Georgetown, $1.25; 37—Smelser, 65c; 39—Fristone, 65c; 44—Prairie Ridge, 65c; 46—Pleasant Grove, 40c; 52—Brown, 65c; 53—Quisenberry, 65c; 54—Camp Branch, 65c.

60—Dresden, 65c; 61—Walnut Grove, 60c; 67—Hazel Hill, 80c; 70—Elm Branch, 75c; 71—Swisher, 80c; 72—Hope Dale, 65c; 73—Maple Grove, 75c; 77—Hillsdale, 80c; 78—Eldorado, 65c; 86—Pleasant Prairie, 65c; 103—Bryson, $1.00; 105—Bothwell, 65c; 106—Houstonia, $1.50; 107—Hughesville, $1.45; 108—Longwood, 95c; 109—Reorganized, 65c; 110—La Monte, $1.30; 111—Smithton, $1.00; 112—Green Ridge, $1.80; 119—Jonah, 65c; 160—Prairie Flower, 30c; 161—Camp Grove, none sent in; 200—Sedalia, $2.00.

Tax Rates for Cities

Naturally, only those living in the cities will pay the city taxes so the rural property owners can omit them from their list, add what they have up to now, and find their rate.

City owners and residents will have to add the tax for their city and then get the total. The city rates are as follows:

Sedalia	$1.50
Green Ridge	.50
La Monte	1.25
Houstonia	.50
Smithton	.25

City taxes are payable until November 1. Payments made by the collector of the county collector's office after that date. The taxes will become delinquent on January 1.

Trotter Cracks-Down On Drunken Driver

The first maximum punishment assessed under a new city ordinance which permits a jail sentence as well as a fine for a charge of driving a car in the city while intoxicated came Thursday. Terry Files, LaMonte, who appeared before Judge Jerry Trotter, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in the city jail.

Files pleaded not guilty to the charge of denying he was intoxicated. Police officers Elmer Bratton and Perry Franklin, who made the arrest testified at the hearing. The officers told of Files running into the rails of the railroad viaduct on Washington and then followed to near Main and Harrison.

Judge Trotter before announcing sentence asked Files, "This isn't the first time for something like this for you is it?" to which the defendant replied, "No."

Delbert W. Danley, Kansas City, arrested for careless driving and disturbing the peace at police headquarters, pleaded guilty before Judge Trotter. After the case was told before the court, a fine of $50.00 and 10-days in jail were assessed.

Billy Wooster, 1219 South Osage, forfeited a $500 bond for running a stop sign at Main and Missouri. Jo Ann Gentry, route 3, forfeited $5.00 for running a stop sign at Main and Grand.

E. A. Wilcox, 1606 West Broadway, forfeited a $10.00 bond for going 45 miles per hour on west Broadway.

Seven overtime parking bonds of $1.00 each were ordered forfeited by Judge Trotter when defendants failed to appear in court.

Miss Anna Rose Baker is Chosen as Queen Candidate

Miss Anna Rose Baker, 21, beautiful young blue-eyed blonde, was chosen Sedalia candidate for American Royal Queen of 1951, at the contest Wednesday night at the Fox theatre sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Baker, wearing a dress of vivid red taffeta fashioned with very full skirt, wore her attractive smile throughout the contest and added to her charm. Her shoulder length hair was tied back on one side with a velvet ribbon of a shade matching her dress.

The judges were Miss Edna Baumhofer of the Jefferson City Business and Professional Women's club, McCormick Wilson and Charlie Edmondson, both of the Jefferson City Junior Chamber of Commerce. Theirs was a difficult task selecting the loveliest from 11 unusually pretty girls.

Four of the contestants were called to the stage a second time. They were Miss Baker, Miss Stella Sperber, Miss Anita Self and Miss Anna Lee Harvey.

Miss Sperber Alternate

Chosen as the alternate was Miss Stella Sperber, dressed in black velvet with rhinestone necklace. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sperber, route 3.

The master of ceremonies for the evening was John F. Zander with Nellie Monegan as accompanist.

Miss Baker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, 912 West Fourth, and is the youngest of eleven children in the family. She was graduated from a Smith-Cotton high school in the class of 1948 and after graduation went to California where she had expected to enroll in college but at that time there were so many GI's in college she could not get in the one she wanted to enter. During her high school days she had modeled, with two or three other Sedalia girls, for E. G. McParth and his pictures had been used in various leading magazines. So she finally decided to try the one thing she knew best how to do—modeling. She visited professional photographers she had met and since has been engaged in

Other girls in the local contest were Miss Rosileta Stark, Miss Barbara Sullivan, Miss Anita Parks, Miss Agnes Templemeyer, Miss Dorothy Porter, Miss Anna Lee Harvey, Miss Beverly Loveland and Miss Nora Witte.

All of the girls were guests of the Jaycees at a dinner Wednesday night at the Bothwell hotel.

Interpreting The News

By STAN SWINTON
(For J. M. Roberts, Jr., AP News Analyst)

ROME—The U. S., Britain and France are gambling Italy never again will become a totalitarian country.

The interpretation informed circles here give to the unexpected announcement that the big three are willing to cancel three political articles of the 1947 Italian peace treaty.

Observers had anticipated Big Three support for Italy's request to rearm. Abolition of punitive clauses in the treaty also was expected.

What raised eyebrows in Rome was the news yesterday that the Big Three also agree to do away with articles 15, 16 and 17. Article 15 guaranteed "without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights and the fundamental freedoms, including freedom of expression, of press and publication of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meeting."

In other words it was a sort of bill of rights. A pledge not to prosecute or molest Italians who aided the Allies was contained in article 16.

Article 17 guaranteed Italy would never permit a resurrection of Fascism.

The Italians felt the articles superfluous because similar guarantees are contained in the new constitution in force since Jan. 1, 1948.

But foreign observers note: The openly Fascist M. S. I. (Italian Social movement) has been and is permitted to campaign freely. It won four per cent of the popular vote in the last parliamentary election and captured six seats in the Chamber of Deputies. Its leaders boast they will poll 5,000,000 votes in the next general election.

Italy has the largest Communist party outside the iron curtain. Foreign observers here point out that should either the Communists or Fascists come to power in the future they presumably would denounce the present constitution. Once the political clauses of the peace treaty are denounced, that constitution would be the only legal protection of basic liberties.

The peace treaty gave the World War II victors the right to intervene if there was a Fascist revival—or if fundamental rights were violated by suppression of free speech or a free press. Renunciation of articles 15, 16 and 17 would strip the victors of that right to step in.

There is no immediate indication that either the Reds or Fascists seriously threaten to win control of Italy in the next few years. But it could happen. The Communists and pro-Communist Socialists have 178 out of 570 seats in the Chamber of Deputies. The MSI is growing fast.

By indicating willingness to denounce the three political clauses, the Western powers gamble that neither Fascism nor Communism ever will come to power in Italy.

There is no unanimity among foreign observers here that this gamble is wholly without risk.

Big Three willingness to discard a fourth political article, 18, caused less surprise. It bound Italy to recognize the satellite West had been not expected to force Italy to continue to respect them.

Stadium Day Drive Gets-Off To An Early, Spirited Start

The Stadium Day Drive with its goal of $30,000 to add to the $100,000 Jaynes Foundation for a recreational center started off with a kick-off breakfast Thursday and lots of enthusiasm.

About 50 of the workers attended the breakfast which was presided over by Joe Benson, general chairman of the drive.

The principal speaker at the breakfast was Chester Wolfe, publicity chairman of the drive, who gave a talk on salesmanship.

First, Mr. Wolf said, you must believe in the thing you sell and today you have one of the finest stories to sell. A woman whose love was so great for her hometown that she left to it her entire fortune, he said, and what will the citizens of Sedalia do for her memory.

Stressing the art of salesmanship, Mr. Wolfe told the story of the golden key, when a man, to judge the ability of his salesmen gave each a blank golden key to sell. How to sell the key was a problem to the salesmen, but one man, he said, had an idea. He took the key and had it made to fit the door of his own home, then he sold the idea that every home should have a golden key, with which all the family could open the door to a golden home-life within. The idea went over and today there is a great success that makes golden keys.

This is a golden story you have to tell, Mr. Wolfe pointed out, to story of the golden gift of Jennie Jaynes Lewis, from which will Club guests Thursday were: Baker Atterbury, St. Louis, with Leland La Valle, and the Rev. Robert Waggoner, a Marshall Kiwanian.

Attendance at the All-American Girls baseball game, Thursday night, was small in accordance with expectations. Cold weather held down the crowd but didn't keep the girls from playing a fast ball game.

The Sedalia Chiefs Ban Johnstone team sponsored the game. Proceeds went to the Stadium Day campaign.

Predict Taft and Truman Choices

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—(P)—America's top editors predict President Truman and Senator Taft will be nominated for the presidency next year and that Truman will be re-elected.

Further, they say General Eisenhower could beat either if he chooses to run on either ticket.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors association voted 115 to 7 that Truman will be the Democratic standard bearer. The seven votes went to Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

They voted 91 to 32 that Truman could beat Taft—whom they gave a 75 to 41 margin for the GOP nomination over Eisenhower. If General MacArthur should be the Republican choice, the editors predicted 79 to 31 that Truman could defeat him.

They balloted 105 to 13 that Eisenhower would whip Truman, and 103 to 10 that the general could beat Taft.
